The global Direct Flush Split Toilet market was valued at US$ million in 2025 and is anticipated to reach US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

The 2025 U.S. tariff policies introduce profound uncertainty into the global economic landscape. This report critically examines the implications of recent tariff adjustments and international strategic countermeasures on Direct Flush Split Toilet competitive dynamics, regional economic interdependencies, and supply chain reconfigurations.

The direct flush split toilet is a split-type toilet that uses a direct-flush sewage discharge method. The water tank and the base are separated. This design allows the water tank and the base to be fired separately, without wasting the firing space, and the molding rate is higher. Generally, the pool wall is steeper and the water storage area is small. In this way, the water force is concentrated, the falling water force is increased, and the flushing efficiency is high. It has advantages in flushing efficiency and water-saving performance.
